Backpack Connection Series

About this Series

The Backpack Connection Series was created by TACSEI to provide a way for teachers and parents/caregivers to work together to help young children develop social emotional skills and reduce challenging behavior. Teachers may choose to send a handout home in each child's backpack when a new strategy or skill is introduced to the class. Each Backpack Connection handout provides information that helps parents stay informed about what their child is learning at school and specific ideas on how to use the strategy or skill at home.

The Pyramid Model

The Pyramid Model is a framework that provides programs with guidance on how to promote social emotional competence in all children and design effective interventions that support young children who might have persistent challenging behavior. It also provides practices to ensure that children with social emotional delays receive intentional teaching. Programs that implement the Pyramid Model are eager to work together with families to meet every child's individualized learning and support needs. To learn more about the Pyramid Model, please visit ChallengingBehavior.org.

How to Give Clear Directions

Brooke Brogle, Alyson Jiron & Jill Giacomini

"Why do I have to repeat myself time and again?" "Why won't she listen to me?" Listening and following directions are important skills young children must learn. There are many reasons why children do not follow directions.

- The child does not hear the direction. Parents often give directions from a distance or in passing. "Lauren, get your shoes on." Did your child actually hear what you said? Just as adults often don't hear what their partner has said to them because they are focused on reading, email or talking on the phone, children too often don't hear what a parent has said because they are focused on a task such as building a tower or drawing a picture.
- The parent gives too many directions at one time. When you give your child too many directions at one time, it reduces the chance that she will follow the directions and increases the chance that she will be confused. "Lauren, please go upstairs, brush your teeth and pick up your blocks while I finish the dishes." This multi-step direction is too long and complicated for your child to easily understand. Instead, try giving one direction at a time.
- The child doesn't understand the direction or the direction is too vague. Directions such as "Settle down," "stop," or "be nice" might be too vague and difficult for your child to understand. If she is throwing toys out of the bathtub and you simply say, "Lauren," you have not actually told her what you want her to do. If you say, "stop it," it may temporarily stop the behavior, but she still may not know what you want her to do. If what you mean is, "Lauren, toys stay in the tub," then you need to explicitly tell her so.
- The direction does not tell the child what to do. Parents often tell children what not to do, rather than what they should do. It is important to state directions positively in order to teach your child the expectation. Instead of saying, "Stop running!", state the direction positively by saying, "Use walking feet."
- The direction sounds like a suggestion or question. Daily conversation is filled with questions, suggestions and directions. When you say, "Will you put your shoes away?" you are not giving your child a direction—you are asking her a question. When you give your child a direction that needs to be followed, it is essential that you tell your child what to do rather than ask. For example, "Lauren, put your shoes by the door."

Try This at Home

- It is important to follow through when you give your child a direction. A technique you can use to make sure you do follow through when your child has difficulty complying, or following directions is Do-WAWP.
 - » Do—State the "do" direction.
 - » W—Wait for compliance (silently count to 5).
 - » A—Ask the child to restate the direction.
 - » W—Wait for compliance (silently count to 5).
 - » P—Provide encouragement or help (helping will ensure success).

- Make sure that you have your child's attention. Eye contact is a great indicator! When you state the "do" direction you are teaching your child the desired behavior. For instance, "Lauren, go brush your teeth." When you count to five, you are giving her the opportunity to hear and process the direction. Parents often repeat the same direction over and over in that five second period. When you repeat the same direction to your child time and again, it teaches her that she does not have to follow the direction the first time. Instead, state the direction once and then have your child restate the direction back to you. This way you can confirm that she heard you and understood what you were saying. Finally, offering help may simply mean that you take her hand and lead her to the bathroom. Don't forget to encourage your child by saying something like, "Wow, Lauren, what great listening ears! Thank you for brushing your teeth."

Practice at School

In addition to verbal instructions, teachers use many methods to give directions and help children understand expectations. These methods may include using symbols or pictures, sign language or gestures, songs, puppets, instruments, sand timers, or other tools. The more opportunities children are given to see or hear the instructions, the more likely they are to complete the task. For example, when teachers need to tell the class that it is time to go inside from the playground, in addition to words they may use a sound (e.g., ring a bell) to alert the children about this event. Children know that the sound means that it is time to line up at the door, even if they do not hear the verbal instructions. When teachers pair words with other signals, they help children to confidently and successfully participate in activities.

The Bottom Line

Listening and following directions are skills that children learn through their daily interactions. When children do not follow directions, for any reason, it can be extremely frustrating for parents. You can increase the chances that your child will listen and successfully follow your directions when you make sure that your direction is clearly stated and you follow through.

An important consideration for parents when teaching their child to follow directions is to "pick your battles". You want to avoid insisting that your child follow directions that are not important or can escalate to a major struggle when the direction is not critical. Pick a few, very important directions that you will follow-through with your child.

"Lasso Up a Book" Scholastic Book Fair

Oct. 4-8.

- Books may be purchased during the school day and also during parent/teacher conferences on Oct. 8.
- Online purchases can be made by going to the website:

<https://www.scholastic.com/bf/lewistonelementaryschool2>

Parents or grandparents may also use the e-wallet option by signing up for it on the same website.

The sixth grade HAL students, Savannah Cutshall, Kessa Phillips, Camden Swendener, Payton Heideman, Colter Steinacher, and Brock Janssen are helping to plan the activities for book fair week.

The sixth grade HAL students have planned the following dress-up days:

- Tenderfoot Tuesday (Oct. 5): wear crazy socks
 - Western Wednesday (Oct. 6): wear western clothes
 - Frontier Thursday (Oct. 7): wear a hat
- Every student that dresses up will have their name in a drawing for a free book.

If our goal of $2000 in sales is reached, the HAL students are arranging a "Western Trivia" game for grades K-6.

All proceeds from the book fair go to help purchase books for our school.

AR Rewards for 1st Quarter

Students are encouraged to be reading for their Accelerated Reading goals. Elementary students reaching their goal will receive a bag of cowboy trail mix. The reward for 7th-12th graders is a Beatrice movie pass.

Getting to know those who make us great!

Each month we will be showcasing some members of our staff at Lewiston. Without our dedicated teachers and support staff we wouldn't be the school we are today.

Mrs. Nancy Barr

Mrs. Barr is Lewiston's 7-12 grade Family and Consumer Sciences teacher. She teaches PBL, Textiles and Embroidery, Senior Skills, Jr High and Independent FCS. She has been teaching at Lewiston for 16 years. What she loves most about Lewiston are the friendly and respectful students and the family-like feeling she gets from working here. She is excited to challenge students in their learning this year and helping them to learn on their own.

Fun fact: She has been married for 47 years.

Mr. Koltan Gabehart

Mr. Gabehart is Lewiston's 7th-12th grade Math teacher and track coach. This year will be his 3rd year teaching at Lewiston. Mr. Gabehart says he loves being able to teach all the different math subjects to the different grade levels. He is excited to see what the new track will look like and hopeful for new students to join basketball this year.

Fun fact: He did the steeple chase, an olympic athletic obstacle course, in college.

Mr. Alex McNeil

Mr. McNeil is Lewiston's 7-12 Grade Science teacher, and sponsors the Junior Class, Quiz Bowl, and the new E.A. Sports team. This is his 3rd year at Lewiston. He enjoys teaching all of the great students here at Lewiston but is most excited for winter break to be with family.

Fun fact: He shaved his head this school year.

FROM THE CORNER ROOM

September 2021

October is here and it is beginning to feel like fall! It's time to unpack the sweaters and jackets in the mornings! The first quarter is almost finished. October 13 is the last day of the first quarter. The classes are settling into a routine, Homecoming Week is over, and plans are being made for the fall activities.

Highlights from September classes include some interesting units covered.

7th Grade FACS class completed a week of food preparation and a week of hand sewing.

PBL Class designed and created pillows for the PreK room and repaired the child bus seats.

Embroidery Class designed and completed a tiger design for a customer.

Textiles class learned about casings by completing drawstring backpacks and a drawstring shoulder bag.

Senior Skills worked through a budgeting unit and a relationship unit, hopefully learning skills they will use now and in the future.

Vegetable and Dairy units were on the menu for the Quick and Easy Class. Recipes included a fresh recipe dish, an oven or stove-top dish, and a microwave dish.

Foods class completed a Dairy unit which included milk, cheese, and yogurt dishes. The class also prepared dishes that used fresh dairy products, stove-top or oven, microwave recipes

Independent FACS class refreshed their digital skills learned a year ago by designing a stop animation video using a character and story from their English book.

LCS NEWS

The Lewiston LCS Club sponsored a Red Cross Blood Drive Wednesday, September 8, at the Virginia Legion. 22 units of blood were collected. Students assisting donors included Leah Christen, Jaqueline Mullins, Emma de Koning, Carleigh Weyers, DeLanye Currie, Madison Baker, Jaxon Janssen, and Brady Bledsaw.
